COVER LETTER

Dear Scholarship Committee,

As a PhD student at the University of Economics—Varna, I am pursuing a dissertation in computer science regarding cloud and mobile technology patterns in order management software.

I came across the "ICT Talents Training Seeds for the Future" scholarship and knew it would be a perfect opportunity to advance my goal by using technology to improve personal skills and career path. I am self-motivated and a highly dependable individual that is confident and culturally diverse.

During my university years, I combined working and studying at two universities. Now I am continuing to contribute to the University of Economics - Varna as an assistant professor. I developed a mini eLearn system (<https://students-manager.site>), which enables students to learn and contribute to the project at the same time.

I am also a humble developer, I strive to keep my code transparent and easy to understand. To come up with the best possible solution, I believe that continuous feedback is the key to success and the way to go. I am a great communicator and I can convey information to anyone. I think this fits well in how Huawei describes the way of working.

Experienced in both IT profession and academics, I'm attempting to bridge the gap between university and business by encouraging students to pay attention to detail and to be optimistic about their future. Also, the PhD is helping to better explain critical scenarios and models from a real-world environment. I'm a doer rather than a questioner, I start by doing and learning from what I observe. I think this will make me fit for the standards of a company like Huawei, where you value people who are innovating, taking risks, and where people have no fear of failure.

Receiving your scholarship would allow me to put more time, effort and resources into developing tools and scientific articles for the community.

I would be delighted to discuss the various ways in which I could contribute to "Seeds for the Future" program. Likewise, I look forward with excitement to hearing from you. I'm available for a meeting at your convenience.

Thank you so much for your time and consideration.

Kind regards,
Jordan J.
